This body of knowledge and the enthusiasm of entomologists from around the world are our firmest foundation. We warmly look forward to your continued interest in and support for the journal as we pursue future scholarly endeavors.

Acknowledgements to the Typesetting Team

The Editorial Board of ICE extends its heartfelt gratitude to two early-career taxonomists who volunteered their time on a part-time, unpaid basis to undertake the journal's typesetting work. Over the past several months, and despite their heavy commitments to research and study, these colleagues have applied professional skill and unfailing enthusiasm to the demanding tasks of manuscript layout, typesetting, and copyediting. Their meticulous attention to formatting details and careful refinement of the journal's visual presentation provided an indispensable foundation that enabled us to present Volume 1 to readers on schedule and in a clear, polished form. These selfless contributions beyond the call of duty exemplify the deep commitment and sense of responsibility that young scholars bring to building our disciplinary community. We not only gratefully acknowledge their hard work as typesetting editors but also deeply respect the collegial spirit they have shown as practicing taxonomists. The smooth operation
